

Situational Leadership - SV3605

Build Trust... Collaborate... Improve Leadership... Solve Problems

There is no single "best" style of leadership. Effective leadership is task-relevant, and the most successful leaders are those that adapt their leadership style to the development/maturity of the individuals or group they are attempting to lead or influence. Effective leadership varies, not only with the person or group that is being influenced, but it also depends on the task, job or function that needs to be accomplished. This workshop will empower leaders to set high but attainable goals while determining their staff's willingness and ability to take responsibility for task and relevant education based on the experience of the individuals or group.

Learning Objectives:

- Understand and learn the behaviors of effective leaders and members
- Embrace and practice accountability
- Improve productivity in current work teams
- Understand team dynamics, or the patterns of behavior that occur within a team, to ensure success
- Establish a set of skills to use in order to resolve performance problems
